Calvin Cowan Obtains Favorable Jury Verdict for Subcontractor

January 2019-following a week long jury trial, Calvin Cowan secured a favorable verdict for an asphalt paving subcontractor against a general contractor. The general contractor originally sued the subcontractor for breach of contract alleging defective work. The subcontractor defended and pursued counterclaims for breach of contract, quantum meruit and attorney's fees against the general contractor. The jury awarded the subcontractor 100% of the money damages sought and denied all of the general contractor's claims.
